

Peer2Peer Tutors Creates 200 Jobs in 2008-2009 School Year

May 18, 2009. Just one year out of New York University, Peer2Peer Tutors 22-year-old CEO Erik Kimel has moved back to the Washington DC Metro area with full speed ahead. The company set out in September 2008 to expand into Fairfax and Howard County, while increasing its foundation in Montgomery County, Maryland. The community responded strongly: over 200 high school students have joined P2P and tutored at least one hour during 2008-2009. Not to mention the impressive list of colleges our graduating seniors will attend in the fall:

Academic profile of our tutors:

- Grade: 10th-12th graders who have excellent communication skills
- GPA: cumulative 3.74 unweighted/4.3 weighted
- SAT: 700(m), 680(v), 690(w)
- Acceptance Rate: 29% (applied vs. work)

Senior college acceptance highlights:

- 19 of our 55 graduating seniors received a partial or full scholarship (35%)
- Highlights: 8 University of Maryland, 5 University of Virginia, 3 University of Michigan, 2 Duke University/New York University/Villanova University/Tulane University
- At least one acceptance at Yale University, University of Pennsylvania, McGill University, Cornell University, Washington University in St. Louis

Background on Peer2Peer Tutors

Peer2Peer Tutors is a network that utilizes the outstanding academic talents of area juniors and seniors in high school to provide individualized instruction and mentoring to elementary, middle or high school students in all subjects. The company was founded in 2004 by Erik Kimel during his senior year in MCPS, and has already created over 600 jobs for top high school students and served over 800 students in the DC metro area. We are committed to supporting the communities we serve: feel free to contact us at 240-744-2470 or at www.peer2peertutor.com.
